DONATE WITH CONFIDENCE

Individuals and organizations who donate to CAREERS can be assured their money is being prudently used. CAREERS recently scored very high on a final 2010 audit indicating that our organization is well run and extremely fiscally responsible.

A final audit report by the Office for People with Developmental Disabilities (OPWDD) Division of Quality Management, Bureau of Compliance Management, scored CAREERS at 476 out of 500, or 92.5%. The audit found no material deficiencies in our agency's financial controls, and concluded that CAREERS pays all its bills on time and is fiscally sound.

"I'm tremendously committed to the fiscal stability of our agency that has provided our much needed services to people with disabilities for 23 years," Tina Cornish-Lauria, Executive Director said. "We are proud of our audit results and have a great sense of satisfaction that this audit confirms that our organization is financially sound and maintains good business practices. People who donate to CAREERS can be confident that their funds are used as efficiently as possible to help individuals with disabilities better their lives."
